

datango announces integration with HP Quality Center

Integration supports test automation and business technology optimization

Oracle OpenWorld, San Francisco, 12 October 2009 – datango AG, the leading independent provider of software that accelerates time-to-value and increases user acceptance of mission-critical systems, today announced that integration of the datango performance suite 2009 with HP Quality Center. This technical integration capability provides greater value earlier in the implementation of an enterprise software application such as Oracle and/or SAP systems, by enabling the faster generation and use of test scripts and business process models.

Dr. Jochen Wiechen, Chief Technology Officer at datango explains, “As a result of the HP Quality Center integration, our clients and partners are able to simplify acceptance testing and, thanks to our single-source principle, all of our documentation, simulation, and context-aware help outputs may be readily leveraged for test automation. What otherwise would have been time-consuming manual work required to create test plans is shortened drastically because all of the steps are automatically available as test scripts as a result of simple process recordings. These scripts may then be imported as a test plan into HP Quality Center for immediate use or editing.”

Dr. Wiechen continues, “We strive to ensure that our clients are able to gain increased value from our software and its broader use within their projects and enterprises. With this integration we are once again demonstrating our commitment to their realization of a substantial ROI from our solution.”

The datango performance suite 2009 with integration to HP Quality Center is available to all datango clients under a valid maintenance agreement for the applicable product(s) impacted. Please visit www.datango.com for more information or contact your datango Account Executive.
