

datango | PARIS: Who turned the clock? That was 2017!

Kaarst, December 6th 2017 – An exciting year 2017 ends. Where's the time gone? If you want to read in the future, you have to leaf through the past. Let us look back together and take stock. But it's also clear that the future is more important than the past, because it will decide all our lives, whether private or professional.

With the further development of the Bot Suite, PARIS AG has further and deeper established itself in the RPA and Chatbot market at B2B level. The foundation stone has been set, some companies are already working with prototypes of the Joe-Bot. The acceptance of the bots was enormous, the companies have understood that digitization is not only a simple trend word, but must be actively lived in the company. In particular, the numerous events attended, such as the DSAG annual congress, it became clear that companies in PARIS are looking for and finding the provider of innovative applications.

New meets old-established ideas

The extensions of the datango performance suite (dps) were also accepted intensively. Thus, PARIS for example has opened up a completely new area that no other authoring tool in the competition can offer in this form and reach. The analytics functions in combination with detailed vulnerability reporting enable customers to leverage risky process steps in a rollout project and to evaluate the "User & Learning Adoption" of employees in an anonymous way.

PARIS AG was rewarded for this innovative spirit with various awards from different institutions, both in terms of bots and analytics enhancements. These range from awards for the software itself to nominations for PARIS as a particularly fast-growing and innovative company.

And what happens next?!

Next year, PARIS AG will begin with a lecture and expert roundtable on the subject of "Office Automations" in Cologne and the LearnTec trade fair in Karlsruhe. Please feel free to contact us at any time for further information or to make an appointment.

We are looking forward to an exciting time together in the new year!
